Bables Die, Mothers Suffer and Families Are Parted.

A decent burial will cost $12, and the inhappy mother believes her supplication will be heaved.

Her address is unknown. She refused the address is unknown. Poverty has divorced her from her usband. He is a laborer, but for eleven recks he has not been able to earn any weeks he has not been able to earn any money.

The baby was born July 4. As soon as it could be left, the mother went out washing-to earn the price of bread and tea. These delicacles did not agree with the wee child of liberty; it was odd, for little Jennie has been raised on them.

Day by day the poor tot got thinner and derker-skinned.

"Nothing alis your baby but marasmus," a dispensary doctor told her. The price of the cut's meat that was being delivered by the Sixth avenue butcher to the eccentric lady in West Tenth street would have keyd the whole family alive and comparatively happy.

Sunday the mouther walked into Bellevue, carrying the dying babe in her arms and leading a pining child by the hand.

Two hours later a nutse came from the infants ward with the seath nolice.

"A remarkable thing about this case."
the nurse is reported to have said. "in

An excellent entertainment was furnished by the New Jersey Amusement Clifb at Caledonian Park, Newark, last night. Five bouts were contested, and two of them were seeting set-tos. They were between Jack Handler and Harry Levy, fen rounds, the former getting the decision, and Mike Leonard and Jim Burge, the Iron Man, of Australia, four rounds, Leonard being lucky enough to secure a draw, after being within an ace of going out in the fourth round. Only Charley White's admirable handling raved Léonard.

The other bouts, between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Hickey, Paddy Gorman and Arthur Walker, and Con Riordan and Val Flood were unsatisfactory. Hickey was like a doll in Bob's hands and he put him out in the third round, He could have done it in the first round with one punch.
